

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to broadcast an anti-Kerry documentary right before the election is a clear violation of its legal obligation to serve the public interest. Furthermore, it demonstrates the dangers of increased media consolidation that the FCC has recently pursued.

In light of Sinclair's actions, I urge the FCC to back off from allowing further media consolidation, and in addition, to hold Sinclair Broadcasting to the highest burden of proof that they are serving the public interest when they apply for station license renewals in the coming year. Thank you.
